BOND

SELWATER, GA.,

May 17, 1916.

Sir:

I learn that a raid is being made on Girard, Ala. this morning. They are about forty-eight hours too late, as most of the whiskey has been hauled out and stored in barns and other places outside the city.

If you will have the Phenix-Girard Journal office searched, I am sure that you will find some whiskey there.

I have the honor to be, Sir,

An Observer.
